The DTU Pharmacy meets all the Ministry of Health's GPP standards. Customers can receive medical advice from DTU's experienced physicians and pharmacists on how to use the most appropriate medicines and nutritional food effectively and feel more secure about the origin, quality and price of products in the pharmacy.

Companies congratulate DTU

Pham Diep Anh Xuyen, Deputy-Dean of the DTU Faculty of Pharmacology, said: “The DTU pharmacy will help meet ever-increasing communal health requirements and employ students and interns to further their education, broaden their practical knowledge and prepare them for future research.”

Currently, DTU has been developing the Nursing, Pharmacology, and Physician program by partnering with Illinois University in Chicago and the University of Pittsburgh. At the same time, DTU is working with eighteen local hospitals to arrange internships and employment for students, including the Family Hospital, the C Hospital, the Army Medical Hospital No 17, Hospital
