At this time of the year, most students have completed their credits and begin their summer vacation. Today, however, they queued early in the morning to give blood.

Le Kim Thao said: “I realize that donating blood is healthy for the providers as well as for the recipients. It is wonderful to participate in charitable activities like this. We hope DTU will organize many more social activities for us so that we can give help to people in need.”

In all, 400 units were donated, which are to be transferred to the blood bank of Danang Hospital to help patients in need.
