

Enrolment into Ph.D. and Master's Degree Programs at DTU in 2016

Duy Tan University is one of the very few educational institutions in the Central Region to offer advanced degree programs. Students are eager to learn and conduct research, and the university will continue to offer these programs to provide students with Master and Doctoral study and research opportunities in 2016.

In late 2013, DTU became the first and the only private university to be approved to offer Ph.D. courses in Business Administration and Computer Science. The University has continually invested in the design of innovative curricula and focused on teaching staff quality at the postgraduate level. Many DTU lecturers come from renowned American universities.

DTU partners with well-known universities in the USA to improve the quality of education

Ph.D. candidates are supervised by Vietnamese and American professors. Students must publish at least one research paper in the SSCI or ISI magazines and present their papers at national and international conferences to graduate. They are provided with private accounts to access study and research materials, such as IEEE/IEL, IOP, Proquest, AIP/APS, Springer Link, the Web of Science and others.

DTU selects Ph.D. candidates through interviews. They must have a Master's degree in the same field as their proposed Ph.D. program, which takes from 3 to 4 years.

Four programs at the Master's level were added in 2009. These include a Master of Science in Information Technology, a Master of Business Administration, a Master of Accounting and a Master of Science in Civil Engineering. Bachelor graduates are able to apply for Master's degree programs in their major, which takes two years.

The modern learning environment at DTU

DTU collaborates with prestigious universities worldwide to offer students the most advanced academic programs. The DTU Ph.D. and Master's Degree programs in Computer Science are based on those at Carnegie Mellon University (CMU), one of the top four IT universities. Ph.D. and Master's Degree candidates in Business Administration will be offered advanced programs shared with Pennsylvania State University (PSU), one of the five top universities in Hospitality and Tourism. The DTU Master's Degree program in Civil Engineering is based on one from California State University, CSU Fullerton and Cal Poly, a leading university in Architecture and Civil Engineering.

November 21st is the enrollment deadline for the Ph.D. and Master's Degree programs. The entrance examination for Master's Degree programs is on December 17th and 18th.
