

The DTU Economics and Management Programs

DTU has collaborated with many universities and businesses in Commerce, Accounting, Finance, Banking and Hospitality services, to broaden opportunities for its students' studies and careers. In a young and ever changing city, with a booming economy and growing tourism, the high-quality graduates are being welcomed by local companies. In line with this demand, DTU has streamlined the teaching of Economics and Management to close the gap between the educational and work environments, helping students to secure better jobs on graduation.

The Economics and Management major at DTU consists of a variety of programs. With over 3.000 students, Accounting has the highest number of students so far. More students are enrolling for Administration Management, Marketing, Corporate Finance, Banking and Foreign Trade. Initially developed right at the establishment of the university, the Economics and Management major has benefited from new up-to-date, international curricula and teaching methods.

In 2013, DTU adopted PBL (Problem-Based Learning/Project-Based Learning), a new teaching methodology used in developed countries worldwide, in the fields of Economics and Administration, Health Sciences and Humanities & Social Sciences. A DTU education has now become student-centric and, as a result, the quality of education has significantly improved.

DTU has partnered with well-known universities worldwide to enhance the quality of education. The university has worked with Pennsylvania State University (PSU), one of the five biggest public university systems in America, to offer courses in Business Administration, Accounting, Finance and Banking, and Tourism & Hospitality. With 24 transferring academic disciplines for every joint degree program by PSU, DTU students can now receive an international education, taught by American lecturers, and obtain PSU qualifications.

In addition, in 2015 DTU offered a new major in Economic Law, with the backing the Ministries of Justice and Education and Training, providing the specialized training for students to confidently start up their own businesses on graduation, including the creation of new business laws, developing management policies, and investment, tax, insurance, credit and banking consulting.
