

The Opening of the DTU High School Practice Test Website

On March 13th, the DTU Admissions and Media Center held a meeting to introduce the complimentary High School Practice Tests website, at <http://luyenthi.duytan.edu.vn>. It will allow high school students to prepare for the National High School Graduation Examination (NHSGE).

Dr. Vo Thanh Hai presents flowers to lecturers answering questions about the Website

Dr. Vo Thanh Hai said: “Beginning this year, DTU will implement a website to help students practice taking exams. New materials and actual tests will be added regularly. The authors welcome ideas from users about how to enhance the website.”

DTU worked with staff from high schools in Danang to create the website. It is concisely designed to give students key NHSGE information, trial lessons and tests. Students can register, study, take the tests and receive results immediately. It is completely free.

High school students take trial exams online at DTU

Currently, the website covers eight of the NHSGE subjects, following the MOET guidelines. Full information about the NHSGE exam schedule and tips for staying healthy are included.

Students from Danang high schools, including Le Quy Don, Phan Chu Trinh, Thai Phien, Hoang Hoa Tham and Nguyen Hien took the trial tests in Physics and English. The DTU Admissions and Media center awarded two first, one second and one third prize to the highest-scoring students, to motivate them further in their studies.

Pham Hoang Bao, from the Hoang Hoa Tham High School said: “The questions in the trial test are based on the high school syllabus and the level of difficulty gradually increases. By receiving the results immediately, I was able to assess my capabilities and modify my study plan accordingly.”

DTU Admissions and Media Center wants to help high school students make their dreams come true.

(Media Center)